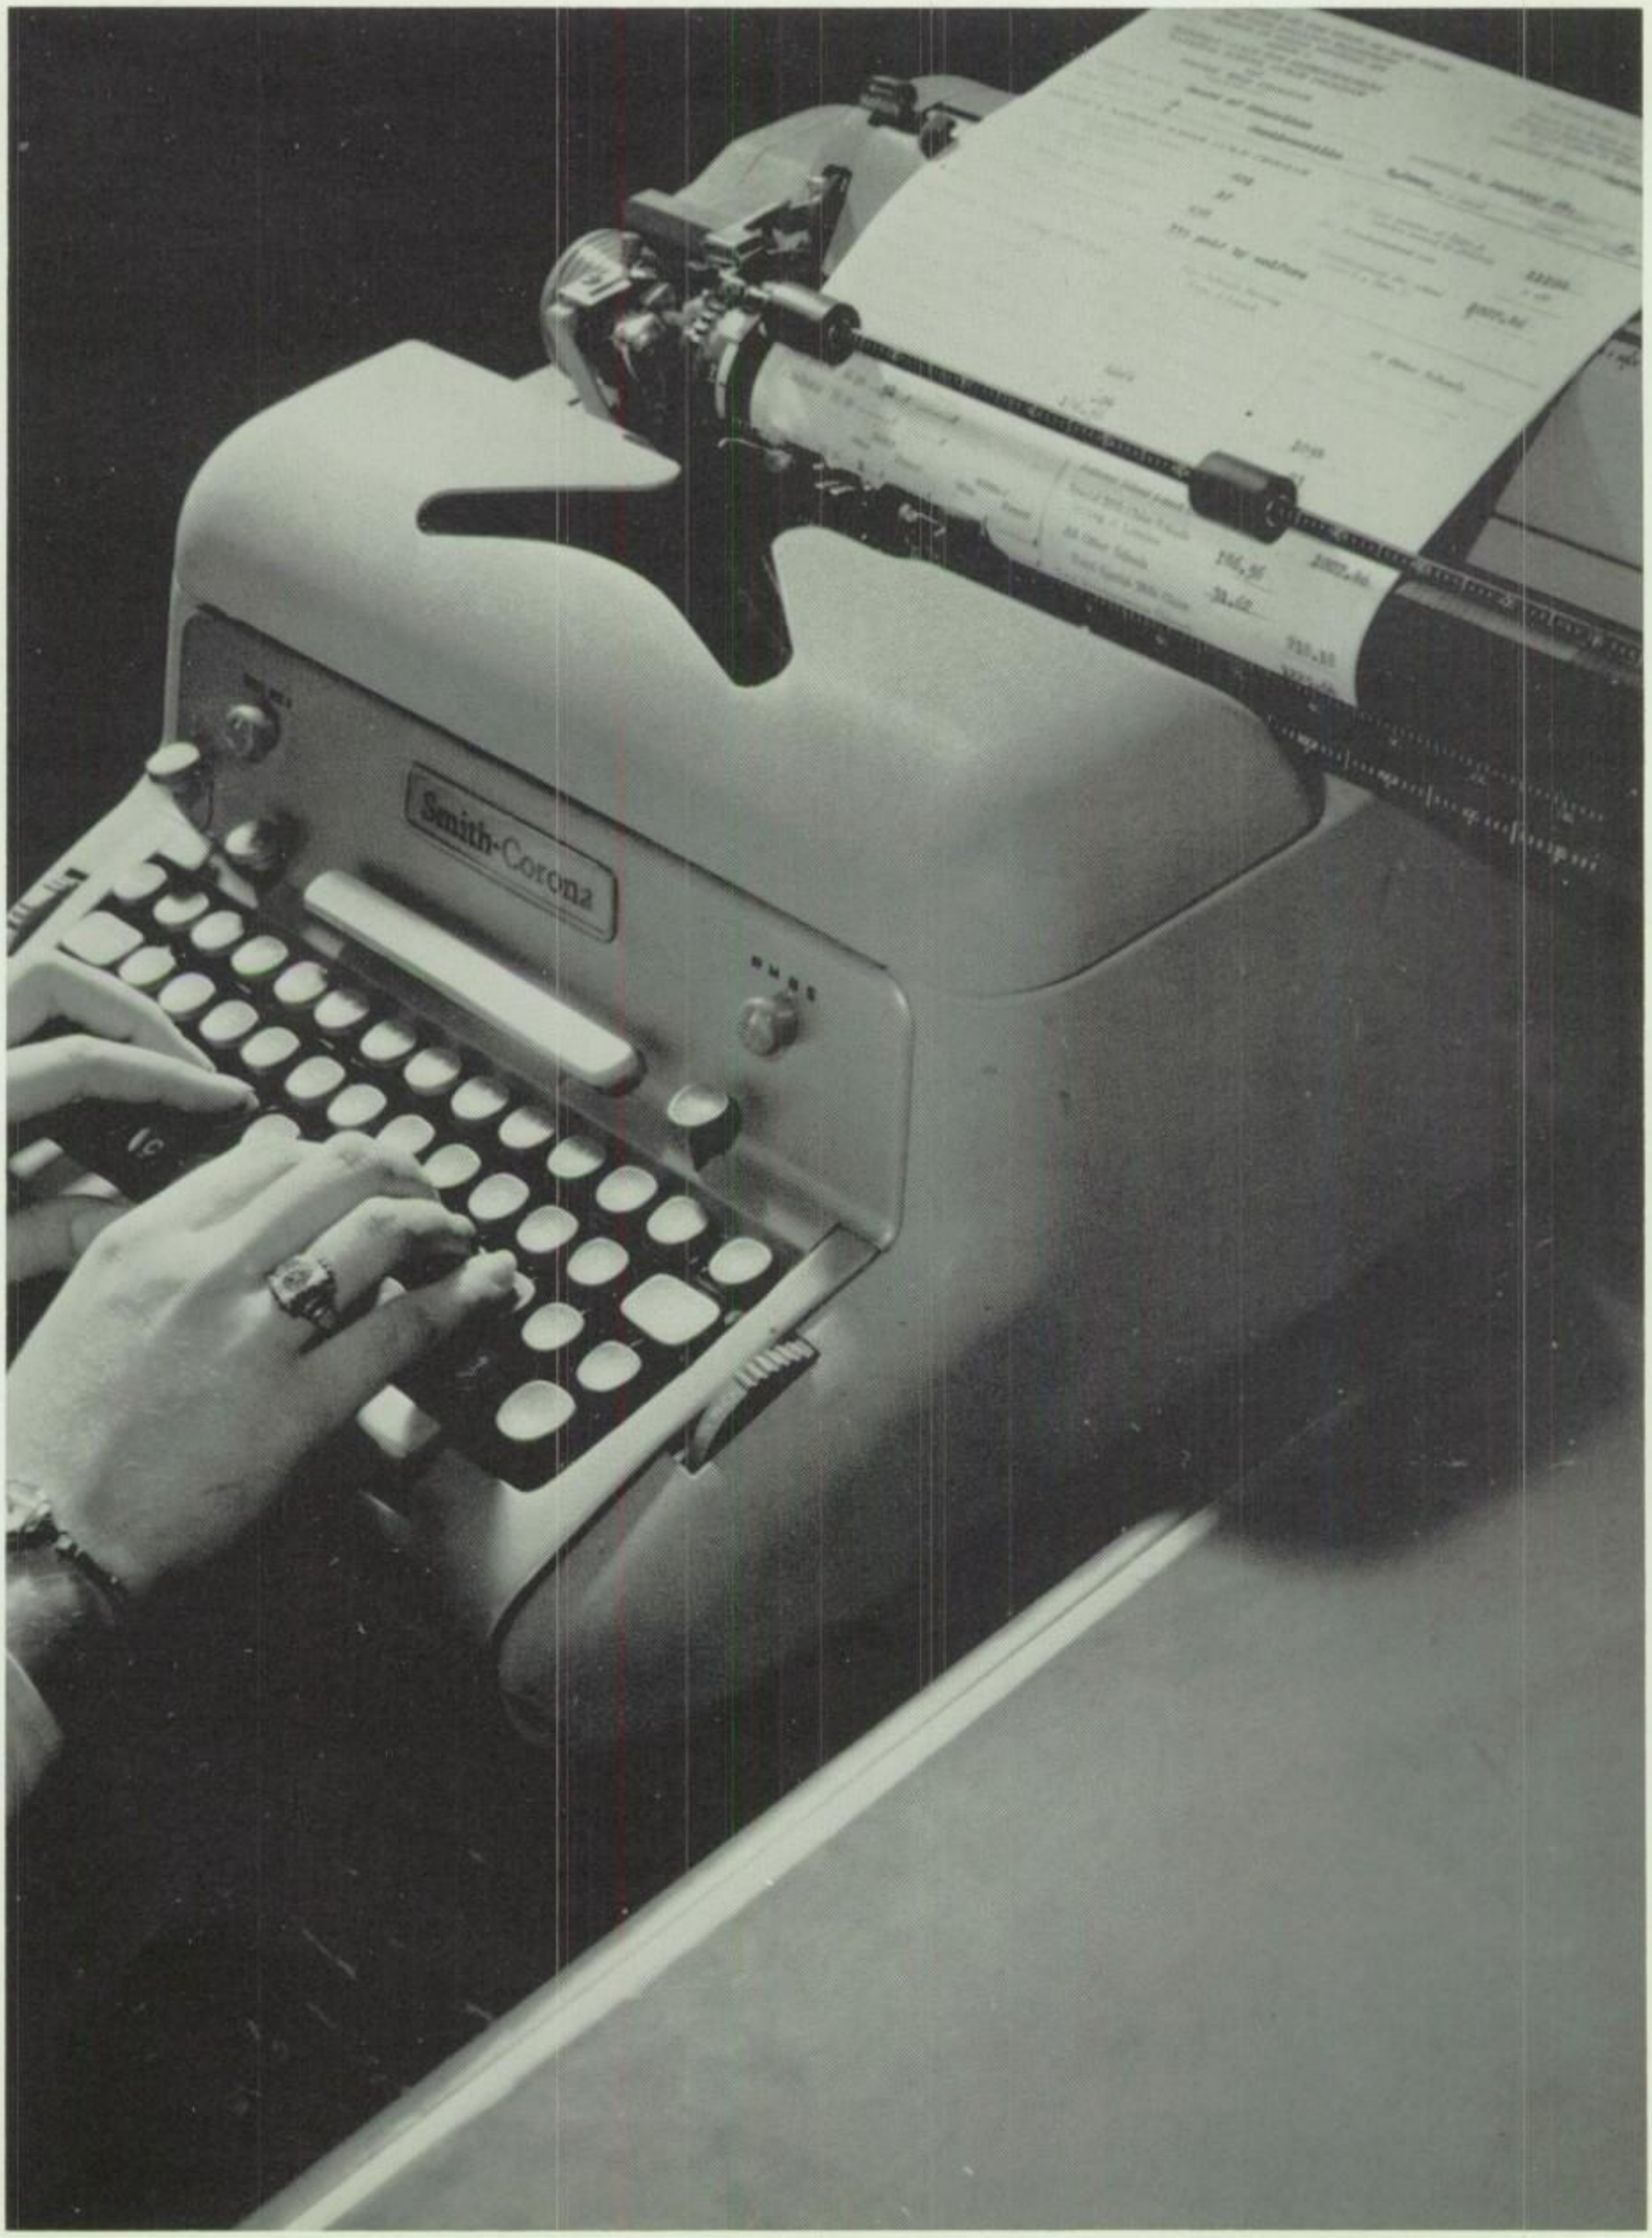
The guidance of a teacher is a vital part of a child's education. A teacher is engaged in an important profession; the student must cooperate by showing his respect for that work. He may not appreciate it now, but as he ventures through life, he will, at times, remember the patient assistance offered by his teachers.

This year the Yearbook Staff wishes to express its sincere gratitude to a wonderful woman for her efforts to enrich our minds with knowledge and to teach us good citizenship.

Proudly, we dedicate the 1964 "Mac" to Mrs. Helen Brewer.



Administration

Dear Seniors,

You are living in a world of changes—a world that demands more of the individual each year. This is why the hope of the world is in its young people. They are the ones that have the flexibility to make the necessary adjustments to enable the world to move forward.

It is hoped that you, on your graduation from high school, will make as your goal in life the seeking of knowledge that will enable you to adjust to a changing world. Your education is really only beginning and if you carry with you an attitude of seeking—not an attitude of, "My education is complete"—yours will be a successful life.

Best of Luck!

Very truly yours,

Robert Brearey
